

The THOREAU SOCIETY BULLETIN

BULLETIN NINETY-NINE

THE 1967 ANNUAL MEETING. . . .

The 1967 annual meeting of the Thoreau Society will be held on Saturday, July 15th, at the First Parish Church, in Concord, Mass. The business meeting, scheduled at 10:30 a.m., will be preceded by a coffee hour. Russell Ready will deliver the presidential address at 11:00 a.m. and he will be followed by the speaker of the day, Roger Tory Peterson, author of the Field Guide to Birds.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30. (Those wishing to, may send reservations for the luncheon to Mr. Robert Needham, Walden Terrace, Concord, Mass.).

Informal activities will be scheduled for the afternoon.

The evening program will include a lecture by Mrs. Ruth R. Wheeler on historic houses of Concord.

PHOTOGRAPHY CONTEST

Members are reminded that a photography contest will be held at the annual meeting and that all entries must be in the hands of Mr. Robert Needham (Walden Terrace, Concord, Mass.) by July 1, 1967. Photographs may pertain in any way to Thoreau. Detailed rules of the contest are given in the Fall, 1966, bulletin.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE REPORT FOR 1967

The nominating committee, chaired by T.L. Bailey (3255 Dorchester Rd., Shaker Heights, Ohio) will present the following slate of officers at the annual meeting. For terms of one year: President: Reginald L. Cook of Middlebury, Vt.; president-elect: Henry Beetle Hough of Edgartown, Mass.; vice-president: Robert Needham of Concord, Mass.; secretary-treasurer: Walter Harding of Geneseo, N.Y. For terms of three years on the executive committee: Mrs. Edmund Fenn of Concord, Mass., and Robert Wild of Newtonville, Mass.

If this paragraph is marked with red, your membership in the Thoreau Society expires with this issue. Annual membership is $2.00; Life membership, $25.00. You may renew for any number of years at the same time. Fees should be sent to Walter Harding, State University College, Geneseo, New York 14454.

SPRING, 1967

THE THOREAU STAMP

THOREAU

The United States Post Office Department will issue a five cent stamp on July 12, 1967, commemorating the 150th anniversary of the birth of Thoreau in Concord, Mass. The stamp, designed by Leonard Baskin, professor of art at Smith College, is based on the Maxham daguerreotype. It will show the portrait in black against a white background, with red lettering at the top and green at the bottom.

A Thoreau Commemorative Stamp Ceremony will take place on the green in front of the First Parish Church at 11:00 a.m. on Wednesday, July 12th. Russell Ready, the president of the Thoreau Society, will preside. Assistant Postmaster General Murphy will make the presentation. Sidney Clark will read selections from Thoreau's works. Harry C. Gates will play Thoreau's favorite songs--"Tom Bowling" and "The Canadian Boat Song" on the flute.

First day covers, with an engraving of the Maxham daguerreotype and a drawing of the Walden Cabin, will be mailed to all members of the Thoreau Society.

If you wish to obtain another first day cover with a different design, you may order one from the Thoreau Lyceum (48 Belknap St., Concord, Mass.) for 35¢. You may also order copies of the special program for the stamp ceremonies from the Thoreau Lyceum for $1.00.

EDWIN WAY TEALE by R.R.W.

Edwin Way Teale, president of the Thoreau Society in 1958 and active member before and since, was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for Literature last year after completing Wandering Through Winter, last of a series of books on the seasons which began in 1951 with North with the Spring. These books have had a wide circulation and made the author known to a large number of readers who had not previously seen his articles in Nature and other magazines.

Born in Joliet, Illinois, June 2, 1899, he grew up in Illinois and in the Indiana dune country, graduating from Earlham College in 1922. He married Nellie Donovan in 1923 and worked as an editorial assistant and free-lance writer in New York while he picked up an A.M. from Columbia and an L.L.D. from Earlham. He had a naturally inquiring mind, and while living in Baldwin, Long Island, explored an abandoned apple orchard next door to such purpose that he was soon an expert on insects and orchard birds. After the publication of Grassroots Jungle in 1937 he was recognized for his close study of the tiny by election to the Explorers' Club of New York. Other memberships include the National Audubon Society; Fellow, the American Association for the Advancement of Science; Associate, Royal Photographic Society; President, Brooklyn Entomological Society. His Pulitzer Prize is just the most recent in a long series of medals and awards.

His interest in Thoreau began when he took along a copy of Walden on a solitary boat trip down the Ohio River while still a boy and has continued with his illustrated edition of Walden in 1946 and his selection of Thoughts from Thoreau in 1962. Dodd, Mead, his publishers sent him to England last year to travel from Land's End to John O'Groats in Scotland and he is now working on a book detailing that journey. His work does not begin nor end with a journey. There are months of preparatory correspondence, arranging to meet knowledgeable natives wherever he is going and planning to go back if the nightingales fail to sing on schedule. There are days of study in New York or Washington checking scientific facts and then there is the hard work of writing, which sometimes involves long search for the right word and careful planning of each chapter.

This scholarly work and the encyclopaedic knowledge he has acquired in no way have changed his modesty nor his interest in people. He is remembered with affection by successions of Boy Scouts and Sunday School classes and by chance acquaintances from Maine to California and especially by members of the Thoreau Society who welcome him each July with joy.

His wife has shared with him his travels and his triumphs as well as the months of anxiety and grief when their only son was reported missing and never found in World War II. Edward and Nellie are now living in a delightful home on an abandoned farm in Hampton, Connecticut, where bluebirds nest outside his study windows, turtlehead and cardinal flowers blossom by his brook and fish and frogs begin to populate his pond. Every successful project leads him to plan a new improvement to what seems already perfect.

SALE!

SALE!

SALE!

Plans are under way to have the first one hundred issues of the THOREAU SOCIETY BULLETIN reprinted as a bound book some time next winter. Exact details cannot be announced at the present moment. (Bulletin #100 is scheduled for publication in the fall.) For this reason we would like to clear out our supplies of back issues. Therefore all available issues are being reduced in price to 25¢ each. The following numbers are available: 12, 13, 15, 21-54, 56, 57, 59-63, 65, 66, 69, 70, 72-79, 81-83, 85-98. As a still greater reduction we will sell unspecified assortments of 10 for $1.00; 20 for $2.00; 30 for $3.00; and 40 for $4.00. A pamphlet reprint of the first nine bulletins is also on sale for 25¢.

Thoreau Society Booklets remain at their regular price. The following are available for 50¢ each: 3, 5, 8, 10, 14; and the following for $1.00: 6, 7, 9, 16, 19. Orders should be sent to the secretary.
